Oh How Lovely! Easter Weather Fine for Hat Parade, Is Forecast

There will be nothing to interfere with tomorrow's parade of Easter bonnets. United States Weather Forecaster Wilson promises not only sunshine, but warm and balmy air. My lady can put on her best gown and her new hat and join the fashion show without fear of a drenching. The storm has passed and the entire State of California is to be treated to real summer weather. The last vestige of moisture disappeared during the night after showers had drenched Red Bluff and caused rain on the coast as far south as Point Reyes. There was little precipitation late yesterday afternoon in the bay region, but during the night the clouds disappeared, and for the first time in several weeks the coast section of California awoke to real sunshine. As early as 6 a.m. Old Sol was shining down with unbroken brilliance. A rather stiff breeze was blowing during the early morning hours, but the weather bureau is authority for the statement that tomorrow should be much warmer, and that Easter Sunday, 1915, will be an ideal day.

Storms were displaced along the Atlantic coast from Wilmington, N. C., to Eastport, Me. Temperatures down to freezing were predicted in the entire country east of the Mississippi. In the northwest states and the west plateau region the forecaster said, Easter-wearing apparel may be displayed.

Walter Cleek, former star hurdler, will deliver an address in behalf of the alumni, while President Benjamin Ide Wheeler will represent the faculty. Dead Hand Holds Jitney Bus Wheel

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Passengers on a jitney bus who were hurrying their work at 6 o'clock this morning, rode for a full block with their driver, Fred Tracts, of 25 Andrew street, sitting lifeless at the wheel.

His foot was on the clutch, and it was not until he had fallen forward and the gasoline supply was cut off that it was realized that he was dead. Tracts, who was about 35 years old, had been a sufferer from heart trouble. He fell dead as the machine was passing the corner of Dubois and Market street and the car had proceeded nearly 200 feet before it was discovered that there was no hand guiding it.

Another machine was stopped and the driver was hurried to the Central Emergency Hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

The submarine pursued the Lockwood for several miles before being able to gain a position from which she could discharge her torpedo. The steamer Lockwood was owned in London. Built in 1896. She was of 677 net tons and 236 feet long.

AUSTRIA WINNING BUKOWINA BATTLE

By Associated Press.

VIENNA, via London, April 3, 10:30 a. m.—The fighting in BUKOWINA, according to information obtained from private sources, appears to be of more importance than is evident from the surface indication in official reports. Apparently the Austrians have gained success of considerable proportions.

The Russians had massed in force to check a threatened Austro-German invasion and reoccupy Northern BUKOWINA.

They are said to have attached considerable weight to this operation because of the effect it might have on public opinion in Rumania. Austrian advisers are to the effect that the Russians were completely defeated and driven back into Bessarabia with very heavy losses in proportion to the numbers engaged.

BLOCK LAID IN EMBERS BY BLAZE

Damage of $20,000 Is Caused by Early Morning Conflagration

Departments of Two Towns Require Volunteer Help

CENTERVILLE, April 3.—An entire block of buildings in the business section of Centerville was burned to the ground early this morning, the damage amounting to nearly $20,000. Scores of residents assisted the Centerville and Newark departments in fighting the fire, which was prevented only by heroic efforts from destroying the entire business quarter of the town. Houses and stores in adjacent blocks caught fire from flying sparks and windows were broken by the intense heat from the blazing mass of wooden buildings.

Among the buildings destroyed by the fire, which was the most destructive in the history of the town, were: The Justice Court, Hansen's hall, the drug store of A. Lehnhart, the bakery of A. Bartoletti, where the flames were said to have originated, and vacant stores. Bartoletti and his employees were working in the bakery at 2 o'clock this morning when fat used for baking caught fire, the flames spreading to the surrounding wood-work. Bartoletti's attempts to quench the flames at the outset, the fire rapidly gained, and within a few minutes the bakery was ablaze and the flames broke into the premises above.

FIREMEN SUMMONED.

Calls were sent into the Centerville and Newark fire departments, and residents, awakened by the glare and roar of the fire organized to help the firemen save the surrounding property.

During the flames might spread over other blocks, residents in the vicinity prepared to make a hurried removal. Had there been even moderate wind to fan the fire all efforts to save the rest of the business center must have proved fruitless.

Building after building, in the big block went up in smoke and flames, the fire working from the direction of the railroad tracks. Its progress was checked as it reached the Bank of Centerville, a new building, together with the plumbing store of George Colt, being the only buildings in the block to escape destruction.

The alarming spectacle of the blazing block when the fire was at its height caused the liveliest apprehension for the safety of the rest of the town, which is composed largely of wooden buildings.

MENACE IS REAL.

To the accompaniment of the crackling of burning wood and bursts of flame, which threatened to leap to other buildings across the intervening roadway, sparks showered on surrounding wooden structures. Windows a block away cracked under the heat and the outlook at one time was ominous.

The two fire departments finally confined their attempts to holding the fire in the block where it originated and to saving the bank building, which was most threatened. In this they were successful.

With the exception of the bank and plumber's store, the rest of the block, one of the finest in Centerville, was razed.

The greater part of the damage is said to be covered by insurance.

REALTY MEN EXAMINE HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS

After a detailed explanation by W. Keith, harbor and traffic manager of Oakland, several hundred members of the Oakland Real Estate Association are this afternoon touring the estuary and the eastern shores of San Francisco bay examining the municipal harbor improvements.

Keith's address was delivered at a luncheon of the organization at the Hotel Oakland grill room, at which Fred E. Reed, president of the Real Estate Association, presided. The luncheon began at 12:15, after which the party repaired to the foot of Webster street, stepping aboard a new passenger boat of the Crowley Company at 1:45, when the estuary and bay trip was begun.

Keith accompanied the realty men and explained all the work, both completed and in progress, as it was seen from the decks of the vessel.

INJURED AS TRAIN WRECKS LIMOUSINE

ALAMEDA, April 3.—While attempting to cross in front of a westbound Alameda electric train, a limousine being driven by Miss Hazel Crooks crossed Lincoln avenue at Webster street and was struck by the train and the machine was badly damaged. The accident occurred at 11:45 this morning, just as a San Francisco bound train was leaving Webster street station.

The machine was going at a low rate of speed, as was the train, which accounts for the fact that Miss Crooks was but slightly injured. The machine, which is a handsome limousine, was smashed in front, the radiator being totally demolished. It belonged to E. W. Wold, of 116 Lake street, Oakland.

PLAN HORSE SHOW IN AUDITORIUM

East Bay Society Horsemen Behind Movement of Oakland Stadium Club.

Society horsemen and sportsmen of the east bay cities are behind a movement, inaugurated by the Oakland Stadium Club last night, to hold a horse show in the new Auditorium in August. Committees representing sporting cities generally, and which will include well-known Oakland society people, are being appointed for the purpose of taking the proposal before the city council and making other necessary arrangements. Eastern millionaire owners of horses have stated their willingness to participate in the Oakland show, which will be held before the stadium meet at the Exposition.

It is more than likely that Oakland lovers of horseflesh will have an opportunity to study the pick of the country in riding and driving horses and polo ponies. The holding of a horse show here is in keeping with the plans of the Oakland Sadium Association to establish a permanent stadium on ground to the south of the auditorium. A petition signed by over 5000 of the residents in favor of the stadium is now before the city council.

Preliminary arrangements for the horse show were made at an enthusiastic meeting last night at the office of Charles F. Shaw, secretary of the association. A. V. Mendenhall, president, presided, and the meeting was addressed by a number of noted horsemen and by candidates for office in Oakland, including Frank J. Bliger and Judge William Geary.

J. T. Bridgford, president of the California Riding Association; Dr. W. J. Smyth, Ed. O. Johnston, Charles Smith of Boston, A. V. Mendenhall and Charles F. Shaw talked in favor of the proposed show.

The appointment of the horse show committee will be completed at a meeting Wednesday evening at the office of President Mendenhall in the Bacon building.

The next meeting of the Stadium Association will be held Friday evening. There are over 300 members in the association, and with individual backing it is proposed to make Oakland one of the biggest sporting horse centers on the coast.

EDUCATIONAL LAWS MAY BE DIPLOMATIC PUZZLE

WASHINGTON, April 3.—California's alien enforcement legislation and its effect upon English women school teachers in the state was the subject of a conference at the State Department yesterday between Secretary Bryan and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador.

Only four women teachers as far as have been affected by the new law, and the ambassador was informed that the California state authorities will by either legislation or construction of the present law, exempt from its operation these women and others who were already employed before the enactment of the law.

The California authorities, it was explained, hold that they have only followed the example of the Canadian government in this sort of legislation, and the British embassy is trying to ascertain the effect of the Canadian regulations before pursuing the subject further.

ALLEGED CARD SHARPS HELD BY POLICE

"Because they could not 'give a good reason for being in Oakland,'" three men, alleged by the Oakland police to be San Francisco card sharps, were placed in custody last night and are being held until they can supply an explanation. The trio was captured at Thayer's Cafe by Captain Boeck and Corporal Smith.

The police were informed that the three men had been playing "26" at saloons and cigar shops about the city, substituting their own dice for those of the "house," and swindling the proprietors. Bob Miller of the cigar stand in front of the Del Monte bar and several others were declared to have been mulcted.

The men arrested gave their names as Charlie Klapp, H. E. Coleman and Frank Coleman.

Such children found on the streets after 11 o'clock will be taken into custody by the police and kept at the House of Detention over night. Their parents will then be called upon to explain the reason for the children being out so late at night, the announcement stated.

"Most of the crime," said Director Porter, in making the announcement, "may be attributed to young men and women and we are going to try to set the juvenile straight before he reaches the age of 15."

INVESTIGATING ESCAPE OF "KID GLOVE" BURGLAR

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—The "kid glove" burglar, who was caught in the St. George Hotel, 2159 Market street, Tuesday, was handed over to a deputy sheriff and was then turned loose. As a result the police are conducting one investigation, the sheriff's office is holding another and protestations of innocence and accusations of guilt are being poured into the ears of the inquirers.

According to Mrs. Kate Harvey, who runs the hotel, James Hewes, a deputy sheriff, is the man who let the burglar escape. Sheriff Eggers maintains that at the time of the alleged capture Hewes was at the DeAnza Hospital and later took insane patients to Stockton. Nevertheless a belated investigation is being conducted in two quarters.

RECEIVER DISPLACED; ANOTHER SELECTED

When Superior Judge Waste sought to fix the responsibility for the depletion of approximately $8000 assets belonging to the defunct California Livestock Association, W. S. Holloway, who was the receiver, passed the bill to his attorney, G. Ryker. The latter released Holloway and to start a new regime Judge Waste removed Holloway and appointed A. S. Buldfinch in his stead.

Up to 1912 it was shown that the police had conducted the affairs of his receivership according to form, but since that time there had been no report rendered until Judge Waste called for an accounting. One of the most remarkable and unsatisfactory nature, according to his judgment, that a more detailed statement was demanded. This dragged along for several months until finally yesterday came a solution of the problem. Holloway was released.

The association was a mutual organization which went on the rocks of financial distress when the Legislature four years ago passed a law which prevented it from doing business as the company had been conducted. The assets then consisted of $8000 in cash and the privilege of bringing several suits against stockholders, who were the leading men, in which these actions were delayed that resulted in further embarrassment for the defunct concern.

The question of a choice which will correspond to the position of chief of staff of the army will not be determined pending conferences between Secretary Daniels and officials of high rank and a final consultation with President Wilson.

The action of Admiral Fiske in requesting that he be relieved as senior military adviser to the secretary of the navy evoked considerable comment in naval quarters. He gave no reason for the step in his written communication to Secretary Daniels and he declined to throw any light on the subject today.

NO DIVERS OFF SPAIN.

LONDON, April 3—1950 p. m.—It was learned here today that the British steamer Eston, until recently known as the South Point, was sunk off Lundy Island, on the Devonshire coast, on March 28, and not off Cape Finisterre, in Spain as was erroneously reported. The report that this ship had been sunk of the Spanish coast indicated a very wide range for the German submarines.

POLICE TAKE TRAIL OF BLACKMAILING GANG

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, April 3.—Investigation of evidence that indicates widespread operations of a gang of blackmailers is being conducted by the police.

The matter first was brought to the attention of the police by Oscar E. Bohm, a merchant who said a man claiming to be a private detective tried to extort $100 from him. Peter Joseph Lunardi, head and proprietor of a store, has complained to the police that he has paid $500 to alleged private detectives.

SIX MONTHS IN JAIL.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Tony Devita, after serving 18 months in Cincinnati for an attack on his wife's niece, bought a round-trip ticket and a revolver and came here to seek his better half, according to the latter's story told in the police court today. She saw him first and had him arrested for carrying concealed weapons. She told Judge Oppenheim that he blamed her for his term in prison and the court gave him six months in the county jail.

CHICAGO, April 3.—Highland Park, an exclusive suburb of Chicago, must entreat Angelo Lunardi, a leper, until war conditions in Europe permit his safe return to Italy on the same vessel of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, which brought him to this country. This is the decision of the immigration authorities in Washington received here yesterday. Lunardi was employed as a watchman at the Exmoor Country Club when afflicted with leprosy.

ALBERT OF BELGIUM.

The one hero so far produced by the European war is Albert of Belgium—or "Albert the Brave," as he is now frequently referred to by the English press. Everything one hears of King Albert is to his credit. From the beginning he has shared the hardships of his people even to the extent of spending days and nights with his soldiers in the grime and cold of the trenches. The Belgian capital was moved beyond the danger zone some four or five months ago but King Albert has not slept one night away from Belgium soil since the war began.

In appearance Albert is every inch a king. His manners are a compound of kingly dignity and of an unconscious democracy. He mingles with men of all types in the freest intercourse, yet there is that in his manner which keeps everybody in mind that the man is a king.

Speaking recently to a reporter concerning certain papers found in the war office at Brussels and concerning which there has been a good deal of talk, Albert said:

No one in Belgium ever gave the name of Anglo-Belgian conventions to the letter of General Durso to the minister of war detailing the entirely informal conversations with the British military attaché, but I was so desirous of avoiding even the semblance of anything that might be construed as unneutral that I had the matters of which it is now sought to make so much communicated to the German military attaché in Brussels. When the Germans went through our archives, they knew exactly what they would find, and all their present surprise and indignation is assumed.

In the course of the interview from which the above extract was taken, the reporter spoke to the king of the affection in which he was held by the Belgian people.

The king smilingly said:

You see my people know me and I know them. I have had advantages few men in my station can ever enjoy. I have travelled freely and mixed with all men and I know how people live and think. When I was in Seattle and along the Pacific coast I lived just like any other citizen, and in my own country I have seen for myself and been able to compare the manners of living in our industrial and producing centers. I know what it is to drive an engine and to work in a coal mine. Only those who work can be really happy. I also have my work and few people realize what hard work it is to be a king.

The same reporter writes of Albert's personal appearance as follows:

As a man King Albert is magnificent. There is no other worth. He stands fully three inches over six feet, and his slenderly fitting black tunic, without insignia of rank of any kind, gives him an air of silence despite the immense breadth of his shoulders. This is accentuated by a pair of the longest, and most serviceable legs I have ever seen. His feet are remarkably small, and although the wrist is very muscular the hands are not over large. At first one does not realize that he has a giant's strength even more than a giant's stature. Few men, however, are as powerful physically. The brawlers of all his cars have to be specially reinforced. He can bend an inch bar of iron and can lift his two eldest children off the ground, one in each hand, and hold them at arms' length. One is a husky boy of 14, the other a beautiful girl of 10.

All through the bitter winter campaign King Albert has fought without an overcoat, and he never wears gloves except indoors or at some official function. His face is of the very plainest. He drinks nothing but water and eats meat only once a day, but there is a wonderful glow of health in his cheeks, and it is that and his being so very blonde that make it almost impossible to take a good likeness of him by photography. The camera never shows the remarkably long and silken eyelashes that are quite fair, even lighter than the mustache. The hair, parted on the extreme left, is curly and almost golden. The eyes are a very light blue.

It would be no surprise to the world—certainly not to careful students of history—if, as an incidental outcome of this war, Albert should find himself king of a vastly larger domain than his own Belgium. France, to be sure, is sentimentally Republican; but at the same time she is emotionally Royalistic. Paris has always wanted a court, if for no other reason than that it would promote the ceremony and gaiety of the pleasure capital of the world. If, as an incidental outcome of this war, there should come a revival of the Royalist spirit, there is Albert of Belgium, a king and a hero, ready made to the service of France. The suggestion may seem a bit fanciful, yet very much stranger things have happened in France.

LESSON FOR CALIFORNIA.

Governor Dunne of Illinois is making the sale of enough state bonds to construct a deep waterway from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi a leading feature of his administrative policy. The plan suggested by the executive is to market $3,000,000 of a total issue of $20,000,000 bonds and expend it in deepening the channel of the Illinois river between Utica and Joliet, a distance of approximately fifty miles. This will, in the judgment of competent engineers, insure an eight-foot channel.

The people voted $20,000,000 for improving this waterway, but the legislature has raised numerous objections to such a large expenditure, although the vote by which the bonds were carried was practically unanimous. Opposition is based on the contention that the state ought not undertake such an immense project without the co-operation of the Federal government.

The action of the governor of Illinois might be emulated in this state with good result. Instead of talking about purchasing the Western Pacific at a cost of approximately fifty millions, and then pledging the credit of the commonwealth to an expenditure of one hundred more millions required for extensions, betterments and the construction of lateral lines and feeders, it would be far better for California to undertake internal improvements of waterways on a larger scale than is now proposed and open the river valleys to cheap transportation by boat.

It is no part of the business of a state to undertake to engage in inter-state commerce, such as has been proposed in the suggestion that the commonwealth take over this railway now in the hands of a receiver, but it is an essential and proper function that it improve its natural transportation facilities within its own borders for the benefit of its intra-state trade, in which its own population is deeply interested, and through which its producing farmers, fruit men and manufacturers would derive the greatest benefits.

The fact that the Western Pacific is in the hands of a receiver has not crippled its operations, its trains are still running on schedule time and are carrying freight and passengers at the same rates. Purchase by the state of the system would not improve this service without the additional expenditure of twice the sum required to buy it, and the burden laid on the shoulders of the taxpayers would be too great for toleration.

Just now California is carrying as large a financial burden as its people can well afford, but if it is determined to spend money, let the cash be devoted to improvements within state lines, and not to the development of properties in other states at the expense of our own.

Oklahoma seems to be suffering from a surfeit of bandits and bank robbers. Unfortunately the activities of this particular class of criminals is not confined to that state. San Francisco probably holds the record for the country for the number and variety of its holdups and the apparent immunity from interference on the part of the police, which the highwaymen enjoy.

It is gratifying to learn from last evening's Washington dispatches that Secretary Garrison's reported resignation from the Cabinet appears to be a story without foundation. The Secretary of War is probably the most useful member of President Wilson's official family, as the Cabinet is colloquially called. Mr. Garrison was a lawyer and judge of high standing and had wide experience of men and affairs before he entered the government service. He has devoted himself with singular concentration to the business of his office and has won the respect of the army officers and the members of Congress who come into contact with him. He is a level-headed, intelligent and hardworking official who avoids undue publicity and devotes all of his efforts to the business of the country. He has no time to lecture as some of his colleagues in the Cabinet do, nor is he given to making silly speeches. Secretary Garrison's retirement from the Cabinet would be a genuine loss to the government and the people of the United States. He is pretty generally declared to be the "balance wheel" and the "heavy weight" of the President's advisers.

The testimony of the Hon. Robert T. Lincoln, son of Abraham Lincoln, who is to appear before the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations in Chicago next week, will be read with interest throughout the country. Mr. Lincoln has been for many years president of the Pullman Car company and he is going to tell something about the relations which exist between that corporation and its colored employees. Chairman Walsh of the Federal Industrial Commission never loses an opportunity to furnish sensations. He has subpoenaed nearly every man of prominence in the country in the course of his travels with the Commission. He has the same eye for "names" that is supposed to belong to publishers and theatrical people and his methods appear rather too sensational to be productive of valuable scientific results.

KAISER AS COAL MINER.

Comes now information that Kaiser William is heavily interested in coal mines in British Columbia, being the partner of a Seattle citizen of German extraction, well known throughout the Northwest as a heavy operator. Coincident with this announcement comes information that the dominion government proposes to confiscate the emperor's interest. Whether the German monarch has investments in the United States is not definitely known, but there is said to be good reason for believing that he has. Very recently announcement was made that a relative of the Kaiser had visited this country with a view to looking after large investments on the Pacific coast.

It may be related that within a year the House of Hapsburg has invested not less than ten millions in United States property. The Bonaparte family had large holdings here. Queen Victoria invested in American stocks to her profit, and her son, the late King Edward, found Yankee securities brought revenue to his private funds, and the late King Leopold of Belgium oftentimes "took a flyer" on the stock exchange of New York.

In view of the expressed determination of the Dominion government to confiscate the Kaiser's holdings in coal mines he will doubtless regret not having placed his money on this side of the line. Of course, the Canadian authorities cannot be blamed for their action, for it would not be at all in accord with the customs of war to pay tribute to an enemy in the shape of profit on coal furnished English battleships and merchantmen.

SEVEN COMMANDMENTS.

"Seven commandments" for the guidance of people who live in the city have been issued by the Brooklyn tenement house committee. The editor of the Atlanta Journal says:

"They are wiser than most of our philosophies, and more important than most of the laws on our statute books."

They are reprinted here for the benefit of our readers, because an observance of them will keep away disease, lessen death and make people happier, more comfortable and contented.

Thou shalt honor thy neighborhood and keep it clean.

Remember thy cleaning day and keep it wholly.

Thou shalt take care of thy rubbish heap else thy neighbor will bear witness against thee.

Thou shalt keep in order thy alley, thy back yard, thy hall and thy stairway.

Thou shalt not let the wicked fly breed.

Thou shalt not kill thy neighbor by ignoring fire menaces or by poisoning the air with rubbish and garbage.

Thou shalt not keep thy windows closed day and night.

If any of the young men in Oakland desire to learn to shoot, the government will supply them with very good rifles of the Crag-Jorgenson type, if they will organize themselves into rifle clubs after the manner prescribed by Congress.

There seems to be a touch of humor in the announcement from New York that Jules Bois, French journalist, author and "prophet of feminism in France," has been sent to this country to make reports upon our grain and cattle production and exportation.

If it is true Billy Sunday will officiate at the marriage of Bob Fitzsimmons with a charming lady of Newark, N. J., the occasion must surely prove unforgettable to the bride. If she can weather this remarkable ceremony in which the solar-plexus cuss-master of religion will co-operate with the solar-plexus master of the prize-ring in tying her freedom into a marital knot, the rest of life, however tempest-torn, must seem peaceful and calm to her in comparison.

It is no part of the business of a state to undertake to engage in inter-state commerce, such as has been proposed in the suggestion that the commonwealth take over this railway now in the hands of a receiver, but

A LOUD CALL FOR COL. IRISH.

Editor of The Tribune—Will that fine old philosopher of Adeline street, Col. John P. Irish, rise up and tell us what is the matter with his friends, the Japanese? Are the Japanese trying to dominate China? Are they trying to get favors and rights in Manchuria that will be to the disadvantage of the United States, of Germany, of England and of France, not to mention Russia?

Are they not seeking to close the "open door" and taking advantage of the European war situation to do the job? Will Colonel Irish explain some of these things if he can? D. E. C.

TOMORROW, HELEN.

Editor of The Tribune: I wish you could give us some more sketches like that called "The Lovely Commuter" which appeared last Sunday in The Tribune. We have not seen anything so good as that in the California daily papers for a long time. There are plenty of interesting things to write about outside of the dull routine of business in Oakland and around the bay if anyone has the eye to see them. When may we expect some more of these sketches? HELEN.

Berkeley Cal., April 2, 1915.

If our correspondent will look in The Tribune tomorrow she will find one of the sketches about which she inquires.—Ed. Tribune.

BRING VISITORS HERE.

Editor of The Tribune: In San Francisco they have appointed a committee to look after visitors and foreigners of more or less prominence who come to that city during the Exposition period. Why would it not be a good plan for our Chamber of Commerce to get busy and do something of a similar nature? We ought to have a committee composed of fifteen or twenty representative citizens, subject to the call of its chairman. One or two members of the committee could be detailed for duty a day or two at a time and it ought to be their business to go to San Francisco and bring people, who are worth while, whether they are distinguished or not, to Oakland and show them what we have here that is worth seeing and knowing about. A SOUND HINT.

To the Editor of The Tribune: I took some friends from the East for a drive along the Foothill Boulevard as far as Hayward and back by San Leandro a day or two ago. They were so pleased with the country and its beauty and climate that they are likely to come out here and settle. It seems to me that the people of Oakland who have visitors coming here should not be content with taking them only to the show places and to Piedmont. They ought to take them out the boulevard and show them that wonderful stretch of country and hills overlooking the bay. Its attraction and appeal is almost irresistible and it cannot fail to make people want to come here. This is a hitherto well-remembering on the part of everybody who wants to do something to build up Oakland! E. R. B.

LEARN SPANISH.

Editor of The Tribune: I read with interest a letter in the Tribune the other day, calling on the Chamber of Commerce and the schools to work together for the purpose of giving a good education in Spanish to the young people of this city. I have lived in Central America and in parts of South America for some years and I assure the people of Oakland that if they want to get trade in that direction they have got to know the language and they have got to send people there who can speak Spanish. The Oakland Chamber of Commerce could not do a better thing than to arrange with the schools to give the right kind of Spanish training to the young men of this community. E. L. C.

WHAT THE MOTHERS THINK.

Editor of The Tribune: I want to thank you for some of the poems which have been appearing in the Tribune on its editorial page lately. Those poems referring to mothers and the one yesterday entitled "Little Girl" seem to me to go right to the heart of things. They will appeal to every parent in this community. The poem "Little Girl" is a very timely protest against the disposition of some of our high school girls to dress in a daring, not to say immodest fashion. The Tribune is doing a good work by printing poetry and other articles which show its deep interest in the real welfare of the community. AN OAKLAND MOTHER.

WE PRINT THE NEWS.

Editor of The Tribune: I noticed in one of the morning papers of limited circulation in this community today a slur upon the news value of evening journals. It occurred to me that it would be interesting to find out just how much news is printed, respectively, by the morning and evening journals. I find that the Tribune, on actual measurement, prints about thirty per cent more news matter, particularly telegraphic and local news, than any of the morning newspapers, and it prints an even larger percentage, in the matter of news, as compared with any of the other evening newspapers. You may like to know these facts, if indeed you do not know them already, and I am sure that it will be of interest to some of your readers.

GRIP AND KISSES IN WASHINGTON.

An epidemic of grip in Washington, D. C., has interfered with social affairs and the transaction of Government business. According to the local health officers, this disease has been more widespread this year than since 1911. In six weeks the deaths from grip have numbered 210, as against 112 for the corresponding period last year. Attorney General Gregory is the only member of the Cabinet who has been stricken so far, but many other officials have suffered.

The grip and the Chautauqua salute are among the most dangerous and common methods of transmitting the grip.

EASTER SUNDAY = TOMORROW

This is the season when all Heaven makes an appeal to the higher self.

It teaches that when we fall asleep we shall wake again in the morning light of a brighter day.

It teaches that we shall not refuse to respond to the call of God.

It teaches that there is a Christ, who through the instrument of the cross, opened to us a plan of salvation.

in the California building, and the hours will be from 3 to 5.

LUNCHEONS OCCUPY SOCIAL EMINENCE.

Luncheons are a favorite form of entertainment this season, and many notable ones have been scheduled for April days. Mrs. P. E. Bowles is one of the luncheon hostesses of the month, and her home "The Pines," is at its best in the spring days. The grounds are of unusual beauty in all the glory of spring bloom—there are hundreds of daffodils, and the tulips offer a gorgeous mass of color.

Mrs. Bowles is planning to give a luncheon at her home, "The Pines," its beautiful pictures and rare statuary. The latter was brought from abroad. One group which came from Florence represents a young girl asleep in a hammock. It is a large marble, and it compares favorably with anything now exhibited in the Palace of Fine Arts across the bay.

The leading women in the Swedish commission of the Exposition announce a luncheon for next week. It will be given in the Swedish pavilion, and the guests will be the members of the Woman's Board.

PREPARATIONS SPEED FOR DINNER DANSANT.

Preparations are going busily forward for the "Dinner Dansant" to be given on April 17, for the aid of the Tuberculosis Fund. While we are doing so much entertaining because of the Exposition, and so much charity for the war sufferers, the dependent people at home must not be forgotten. And there is no money in this fund to carry on what is perhaps the most needed work of all the philanthropic activities of our city.

The duty is straight up to everyone, and those who cannot go must not feel relieved of responsibility. They must send their donation just the same. No matter how small it may be, it becomes a matter of conscience to send it. But the dance is to be very picturesque. It is a fine thing to know that one may have a good time and benefit a great philanthropy by so doing.

The Oakland will afford the environment for one of the most picturesque dinner dansants of the year. Already it is a success, since reservations are rapidly coming in for tables. The Dutch dinner parties, will be here as elsewhere, a feature of the gathering, and this places entertainments of this kind on the right basis.

It is as a quaint little lady quite properly expressed it—"No one is beholden to any one else." And perhaps Californians do not often enough stop to consider the value of that word "beholden."

The committee of a hundred members who are working so hard to make the dansant a success want it to be definitely understood that Colonial dress is not insisted upon. Of course, if one has a gown from one's grandmother, it would be a fine thing to wear it, to add to the colorful effect of the scene. Powdered hair, a la pompadour, adds to the beauty of a young matron, and Colonial costumes are wonderfully pretty.

Mrs. William E. Sharon and Mrs. A. H. Glasscock have the menu in charge, and it will be reminiscent of old-time Colonial days. And it must be remembered that the colonies were of the North and South—so they can choose that which pleases them in the culinary developments characteristic of both sections of the country. Mrs. J. F. Carlton, who is very artistic, will have charge of the table decorations, and many of the wonderful gardens of Claremont and Piedmont will be at her disposal. Any hostess wishing her table decorated may have it attended to by Mrs. Carlton, and it will be a lovely and artistic color study, at lowest possible cost.

Anything Colonial, coming from any ancestor may be worn, and it will add to the interest of the evening. There are many wonderful fans which have descended from grandmothers of Colonial days. There are old fashioned combs, of amber or of tortoise shell, standing high in the coiffure. There are all sorts of old-fashioned jewels, in the jewel boxes that have come from one's grandmother—great cameo pins, and old-fashioned necklaces, with the ear rings which remind one of the ornaments that Gypsies used to wear.

There are the lovely "karchiefs," the dainty "tichus," crossed over the corsage and tucked into one's belt, very effective and altogether picturesquely. And what can be prettier than the tight little bouquets of sweet smelling, rare, old fashioned flowers? All these things and more will be characteristic of the Colonial dansant.

Mrs. Sharon, Mrs. Herbert Hamilton-Brown, Miss Annie Brown, and the members of the Tuberculosis society are all working with might and main, and they are evolving pictorial plans, and an ideal scheme of entertainment which will be specially charming.

The dansant committees are as follows: Menu Mrs. Wm. E. Sharon and Mrs. A. H. Glasscock; orchestra, Mrs. J. F. Carlton; table decorations, Mrs. J. F. Carlton; Colonial staffs, Mrs. Herbert Hamilton Brown; old fashioned bouquets, Mrs. Willard Williamson; Colonial fans, Mrs. Harry East Miller; after dinner dainties, Mrs. Wickham Havens.

Among the table reservations already made are those by the following hostesses: Mrs. Isaac Requa, Mrs. Wm. E. Sharon, Mrs. F. M. Smith, Mrs. Wallace M. Alexander, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. H. H. Brown, Mrs. H. E. Miller, Mrs. Mary L. Requa, Mrs. J. F. Carlton, Mrs.

Sam B. Wakefield, Mrs. J. P. Dunn, Mrs. A. G. Tasheira, Mrs. R. M. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Willard Williamson, Mrs. C. D. Bates, Mrs. H. W. Taylor, Mrs. H. S. Denning, Mrs. W. A. Starr, Mrs. A. H. Glasscock, Mrs. Daniel E. Easterbrook, Mrs. Chas. H. King, Mrs. Bacon-Soule, Mrs. J. L. Lohse, Mrs. E. M. Walsh, Mrs. Maynard, Mrs. G. F. Graham, Mrs. George B. M. Gray, Mrs. W. S. Palmer, Mrs. R. W. Kinney, Miss A. D. Blood, Mrs. H. S. Robinson, Mrs. T. P. Hogan, Mrs. Kenneth Millican, Mrs. J. Herpring, Mrs. T. W. Cushing, Dr. Milton H. Schutz, Mrs. A. C. Richards, Mrs. Edward von Adelung, Mrs. W. M. Hart, Miss Jessaline Horton, Dr. A. S. Kelly, Mr. Frank Edoff, Mrs. J. S. McClymont, Mrs. Oscar Sutro, Miss Ethel Moore, Miss Annie Florence Brown, Mrs. J. J. Donovan, Mrs. Warren Harrold, Mrs. E. Remillard.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cordell who were married last Monday at the Welch residence in East Oakland are spending a honeymoon at Coronado and after their return will take an apartment in Oakland. The wedding was an unusually pretty affair at which the younger set of society was present with many older friends of the family.

Miss Bernice Kelley is the daughter of Mrs. Kelley and the late Dr. E. A. Kelley of Claremont. Her engagement to Mr. Frederick Kirchoff of Honolulu was recently announced and the wedding will take place in the summer. Miss Kelley is a niece of the late Admiral Miller, U. S. N.

Mrs. Robert Henderson is one of the popular young matrons of San Francisco society, who has many friends on this side of the bay. She was Miss Louise McCormick before her marriage several years ago.

Mrs. P. C. Leavitt has made her home with her brother in New York for the past year, but will return to California in May for a visit to the Exposition. Mrs. Leavitt was Miss True Curtiss of San Francisco.

HOMING SEASON OF CALIFORNIANS HERE.

It will be interesting to note in the early summer the return to the Coast of many old-time Californians. In the old days of the Comstock mining excitement, the lucky miners, having made their fortunes, felt constrained to go and spend them elsewhere. So one has read many a time and oft of the Eastern careers of the Mackays, Fairs, Huntingtons, and D. O. Mills.

The Oelrichs and Vanderbilts will be here for some time this year, representing the Fairs, and the Henry E. Huntingtons (Mrs. Collis P. Huntington) will be in San Francisco for the Exposition. Mrs. Huntington and Mrs. Vanderbilt and her sister, Mrs. Oelrichs, were near neighbors in New York, but they have never been friends.

Indeed, to have been a Californian, has never been a recommendation in the eyes of the former Fair sisters. Why people to whom they have been systematically rude in New York should entertain them now must always remain a mystery to those who have for years known of their attitude.

The Archer Huntingtons are also planning to come to California, and Mr. Huntington will be for a time the guest of his mother, Mrs. Henry Huntington. He is a fine student, and he has a wonderful Spanish library, probably the best in the world. He has been able to travel extensively abroad, and has had an opportunity of thus adding to his store of books.

Mrs. Whitelaw Reid is coming to the Coast and will open her country place at Menlo, and it will be a center for many friends who will be in California this season.

Hon. and Mrs. Morgan Bulkeley of Connecticut and Miss Minnie Houghton have arrived from the East, and are at the St. Francis, across the bay. Their relatives in our city are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Houghton, and the Seymour Halls. Mr. Charles Houghton is a brother of Mrs. Bulkeley and of Miss Minnie Houghton, and the two latter are aunts of Mrs. Seymour Hall (Ruth Houghton).

Thirty years ago General Houghton and his family occupied a beautiful home on Jackson street, and here Morgan Bulkeley and Miss Fannie Houghton were married. Their sons are now graduates of Harvard University. Hon. Morgan Bulkeley has been governor of Connecticut and United States Senator from that state. The Bulkleys will probably be guests of the Houghtons during their stay in California.

Mrs. George Doubleday of New York and her daughter arrived from New York this week and they are the guests of Mrs. Moffitt, Mrs. Doubleday's mother, at Piedmont. On Wednesday, Mrs. Moffitt gave an informal "at home" in honor of her daughter, asking some of the very public places. The only time that no gloves are permissible is when a woman has faultless arm and hands, then and then only."

Apropos of all that, "a word to the wise is sufficient."

We are told many a time and oft that the greatest exhibit California will have to offer this year will be her people. But there is another side to that, too. It is going to be of absorbing interest to us to watch other people, as representatives from all the world come to our shores. To the hostess receives acceptances and when something apparently better comes along and she promptly regrets heading her way, she is apt to reflect sorrowfully on the mutability of human affairs and resentment marks her fopit's own.

When a hostess deliberately sends out cards for a day which she knows her good friend has also chosen, it is not to be wondered at that friendship's bonds are strained.

Again it might be suggested to those who are inclined to find fault with anything along the line, that the thing to do just now is to refrain from faultfinding. The Exposition has only just opened. Never having given an exposition before, California could not be expected to have everything perfect at the outset. There must, of course, have been mistakes. But there is plenty of time to correct them all.

It is evident now what an enormously big thing California has done, and minor things ought not to mar the perspective of a big picture. The Exposition is our schooltime, where we are to acquire the higher education this year. It is also our playtime—and busy Californians should make the most of that.

After a hostess has succeeded in obtaining for her drawing room some guest of note, it is not unusual to hear the announcement that he can only remain a little while. And he is spirited off by a friend—going to some other entertainment to which the hostess has not even been invited.

No wonder she feels as if she had fallen upon evil days and that social life had lost some of its refinement and a great deal of its charm—and that many social lapses were now happening in the name of hospitality.

It has been known, of course, that there would be a great struggle for social precedence when the fair opened—especially since Europe is closed to tourists this year. The Burlingame contingent have headquarters in the Palace of Jewels, the New York building is keeping up the standard of lavish hospitality that was promised for it before it opened and the California building is managed by the halo which "the East" bestows, and leaves one out, one may be part of that, the motor is here, is it? Well, just wait a minute till I grasp the Horn's paw." And she took her place in the line which was surging up to meet the guest of the afternoon, the Vice-President of the United States. Social studies in the heart of the smart set were never of more absorbing interest than now. And it is safe to say that some of the jealousies engendered, some of the hard feelings developed will not be healed for a long time after the exposition closes its doors. When one's best friend gives a luncheon and runs after strangers who come surrounded by the halo which "the East" bestows, and leaves one out, one may be part

A wise aristocrat of the old days, who represents real social prestige, was heard to give a bit of advice to some young matrons recently at a luncheon:

"My dears," she said, "in my old copy-book days I was made to write many times over, 'Make not friends with the vanishing!' We have gone farther than that, we can't make the aforesaid friends all right, but far be it from us to neglect the old-time friends in the process."

old friends of the family to meet her. Among them were Mrs. Isaac Requa, Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, and to the joy of many of her friends Mrs. Remi Chabot. No one is more loved than Mrs. Chabot, and no one is more missed from the social activities of the day when she does not appear in them. Society cannot afford to lose a leader so able, so generous, and so well read. Mrs. Chabot had a reception quite on her own account. Other old friends to meet Mrs. Doubleday were Mrs. Harry East Miller, Miss Anna Miller, Mrs. Harold Spens Black, Mrs. George Wheaton, Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. Leon Boqueron, Mrs. Henry Dieckmann, Mrs. J. P. H. Dunn and Mrs. Fred Magee.

One feature of the afternoon was the very beautiful singing of Mrs. Doubleday. She sang very well before her marriage, being one of a group of well-known girls who sang very well indeed—among them Miss Elizabeth McNear, now Mrs. Hutchins, and Miss Jasphine Chabot, now Mrs. J. H. Dieckmann. Mrs. Doubleday has lived for some years in a musical center, since New York offers much in a musical way, and she has studied with its best teachers. She sings beautifully, her perfectly trained voice, and her fine interpretation surprising even the friends who knew how very well she sings.

Mrs. Herbert Moffitt, who was formerly Marguerite Jolliffe, will also entertain for Mrs. Doubleday during the latter's stay on this coast.

SARTOR RESARTUS BOOK FOR FASHIONS.

Clothes absorb the attention of many well known young matrons just now, and in Oakland, Burlingame, and Marin county some of the smartest of the younger contingent wear most fetching costumes in wonderfully effective color tones. The delightful silk sweaters with hat and stockings and shoes to match are most fascinating, and the costume certainly is conducive to a youthful appearance.

But one Eastern guest was heard to lament loudly and sorrowfully her bad fortune in owning the picturesque sweater: "To think that I paid 45 dollars for it, when I might have had some adorable Oriental design instead." And the rush for "Oriental designs," whether they are becoming or not, is characteristic of the Eastern visitors who are our guests. Some of the results are altogether amusing. This week there arrived in the California building a group of girls from Maine—very pretty girls they were, too—and very well chaperoned. They were pinched and blue with the cold, and no wonder, for they were gowned in organdies, with white shoes to match. Somebody had been telling them about the "California climate," and they looked sadly at the California women, who are still wearing their furs. One heard them inquiring about the best place in which to purchase a tailor gown—and in their case one hopes for the best.

Among the very attractive gowns seen at private affairs in the past few days were those worn at the Stone-Barnard wedding across the bay. Among the handsome costumes represented there were those of Mrs. Schilling, Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mrs. Harry Weilhe, Mrs. George Volkmann and Mrs. William Volkmann (Gladys Meek). Mrs. Charles Keeney (Florence Henshaw) wore one of her trousseau gowns, and her sister, Mrs. Harry Chickering, who is a fine type of blonde beauty was attractively gowned in pale pink. Miss Elsie Posey and Miss Josephine Johnson were the two girls from Oakland honored with invitations, and both wore attractive costumes. Mrs. John Galli, who was Eliza McMullin of this city, is one of the most popular of the younger matrons across the bay. She is very petite, very original, and her costumes are chic, and express the latest cry, at the same time she makes them very effective and becoming.

Mrs. Barnard was a very stunning bride, she is very tall, and radiates perfect health always, and she has such abounding good nature, such a wonderful fund of enthusiasm, that she is charming to an unusual degree.

At the Stone home there will be three weddings within a year, as the marriage of Miss Marian Stone and Herbert Schmidt will take place immediately after Easter.

MRS. SHARON WILL ENTERTAIN AT HOME.

One of the very welcome invitations of the season arrived in many homes this week, in which Mrs. William E. Sharon announced an "at home" for Thursday, April eighth. Mrs. Sharon will entertain in honor of Miss Hazel Ingels, the very attractive young girl whose engagement to Robert Sharon was announced early this year.

The Shasons were among the pioneers of upper Piedmont. The oldest of the families, in point of residence there, were the Isaac Requas, who built "Highlands" forty years ago. The Shasons pioneered the way on the upper foothills along which runs Mountain avenue, one of the scenic drives of Piedmont, and their home built over twenty years ago has always been the center of a hospitality based on true measurements. In it have been dances, receptions and musicals, and from it has radiated many lines of helpfulness, for no one has been so uniformly kind to struggling artists as has Mrs. William E. Sharon. The young people of the family have had in their home an ideal life, for Mrs. Sharon has known how to be a good comrade for her children.

Robert Sharon, who is a graduate of Yale University, is already making a business success, and he is very popular not only here, but on the other side of the bay. He is a great favorite with his cousins, the Fred Shasons of San Francisco.

Mrs. Sharon's four daughters, Mrs. Herbert Hamilton Brown, Mrs. Harry Farr, Miss Ruth and Miss Esther Sharon are all charming, and very talented in many ways. Miss Ruth Sharon cares much more for her music than she does for social life, and she stands in the first rank of pianists on this Coast. Miss Esther Sharon is a very young girl, who made her debut only a season ago, and she bids fair to be as much loved in the social world as popular as her older sisters.

The Shasons have a large circle of friends not only on this side of the bay but in San Francisco, and the reception in honor of Miss Ingels will be one of the most important dates of the after-Lenten days.

SOCIAL STATUS FIXED BY DORCAN FRIENDS.

In the East, a young girl's social status is determined by the "Lenton sewing class" to which she belongs, and the debutantes of this winter will be referred to as belonging to a certain Lenten sewing class of 1915.

Besides that the more exclusive debutantes belong to the "Junior League," made up each year of debutantes who have been thoroughly well educated and have many duties imposed upon them. The president of this league is a very important young person, and the honor was given to Miss Harriet Alexander on her coming out. Miss Alexander being the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander.

The Junior League must always give some entertainment for charity, and in a city like New York it is very difficult to evolve new programs, and to carry them off successfully.

In San Francisco, the "Gentry Girls" admit debutantes each year, the latter taking the places of girls engaged or married. Miss Ernestine McNear was the president of the club last winter, and the season before that office was filled by charming Miss Ethel Crocker.

On our side of the bay the dares clubs have usually marked social measurements. The first one of importance was the Deux Temps, organized a score of years ago, with Mrs. Isaac Requa, Mrs. Prentiss Seby, Mrs. James Moffitt, and Mrs. Remi Chabot among the patronesses. It was followed by the "Thursday Nights," which were arranged by Mrs. Thomas Crellin, Mrs. George McNear and Mrs. T. L. Barker, and this series of dances was in its turn succeeded by the "Fortnightlies" among the patronesses of the latter were Mrs. T. C. Coogan, Mrs. George W. Baker, Mrs. A. W. Havens, and Mrs. Valentine Hush.

In due course of time came the "Friday Night Club," the logical sequence to all these clubs, and for several seasons they were chaperoned by Mrs. Q. A. Chase, Mrs. M. W. Kales, Mrs. D. H. Mathes, Mrs. William I. Henshaw, Mrs. Edward Walsh, and Mrs. Arthur Crellin.

This winter there have been no Friday Night dances, much to the regret of the younger contingent. But then there have been no Greenway dances across the bay either. One is moved to ask is society becoming more democratic, and the dansant filling a long felt want, or is it that we have ceased to have certain standards of measurements which society used to consider necessary as a safeguard?

PONIATOWSKI MAX RULE IN POLAND.

News notes from abroad of people one knows are always of interest. One reads of Prince Poniatowski, well known in smart set circles on our coast:

"Social New York, and for that matter, social San Francisco, have viewed with regret the reported plan to boost a Hapsburg on the throne of Poland. To society abroad, and on the coast, the right man for that place is Prince Andre Poniatowski, who, in addition to being the direct descendant of Poland's last king, is very well known and equally liked abroad, in New York, and in California, where he married Miss Beth Sperry, the sister of Mrs. William H. Crocker. His brother, who married Miss Ely Goddard, a New Yorker, and a great beauty, resided in the City of Mexico, where he enjoyed the curious and perhaps enviable distinction of owning, and going about in a private street car. But, as Prince Andre very nearly owned an entire railway, he perhaps went his brother one better. That though, is a matter of taste. In any event, his brother is dead, whereas he is alive, very much so indeed, particularly in consideration, in the matter of which, to our knowledge and belief, he has no superior today. Moreover, should he decide to die, he has a son to succeed him and what more could any one hereabout decently ask than to see that boy—half American as he is—assume the Polish purple? Why,

Miss Ethel Crocker spends much time in Paris with her aunt, who is very fond of her. The Princess Poniatowski is a woman of rare culture, one would of course expect that from the Sperry family, which is representative of a fine California type. They have good breeding, consideration for others, and the courage of their convictions, and these characteristics must make them powerful factors in any social life in which they may find themselves.

any of the parties concerned, yet, if such an event should occur—if it should!—we would regard it as a family affair."

The son referred to is Stanislaus Poniatowski, who was in California a summer or two ago visiting his aunt, Mrs. William Crocker, at Burlingame. He had charming manners, a most delightful young son of the old nobility. He was very sincere and unaffected and he thoroughly enjoyed the California summer he spent with his three cousins. One hears that, although he is still very young, he is fighting with the French army.

Of course, every one knows that not all American women who marry well, and go to Paris to live, are welcomed cordially by the aristocratic circles of the Faubourg St. Germain. They have been known to confide to friends that they really never have been at home in Paris. They have been made to feel always that they were foreigners, they have never penetrated to the inside circles. Outwardly everyone has been perfectly polite, but there is the barrier which only women know how to erect, that they have never been able to cross. But exactly the reverse has happened to the lovely Californian, the Princess Poniatowski. She has been welcomed by the most exclusive circles of the Parisian capital, and her home life has been so delightful, that she is quite as much of a French woman now as she is a California. The Poniatowskis have a beautiful home in Paris, and a charming country villa at Cannes, where they spend their summers.

One of the important books of the year, "On Sunset Highways," has just reached California, and it is a affair, society on the coast and in comprehensive description of a motor car, happily free from snobishness, are we all, that while some of us are hereabouts deeply interested in the trip through our state. Almost every leading hotel is carefully considered, and many of the cities are wonderfully well described. To Oakland is given just one sentence: "On our second visit to Stockton a year later we passed through without delay on our way to the state capital. We came from Oakland—where we passed the night at the magnificent new Hotel Oakland, unsurpassed by any of California's famous hotels."

That sentence is from the pen of one of the best known travelers in America, a man who has visited more than once, all the leading hotels in California. That one sentence is going to mean a great deal for us in influencing travelers to remain on our side of the bay this year, and if we begin with our hotel, the lesson will go on till on roads are thoroughly exploited, and till the beautiful scenery to be found here is as well known as that of Switzerland.

But our Hotel has earned its meed of praise, and more and more it is becoming the center of the great social life of our city.

One of the most elaborate teas of the Easter season is to be given at the Oakland in the afternoon of April 7. The hostess will be Miss Helen Downey, and about a hundred guests will accept her hospitality. The guests of honor will be Miss Margaret Warner, Miss Hazel Ingels, and Miss Marian Rodolph, all brides-elect of the season. Mrs. Thomas Hogan, Jr., will also be one of the guests of honor.

Other interesting social dates are to be announced next week, making the month of April represent a series of social activities quite unusual in the chronicles of the early spring.

THE MEDDLER.

Many good wishes are being sent across the bay to Miss Evelyn Hussey, whose engagement was announced this week to Paymaster Graham Adeo, U. S. N.

Miss Hussey is the daughter of the Horace Hussey, whose home was for so many years on Market street in this city. She is the grand daughter also of Judge Crane, one of the eminent lawyers of the coast, and whose valuable collections of books was a gift to the University of California. The Husseys have a home across the bay on Steiner street, and an exceedingly attractive home at Ben Lomond.

Miss Hussey is a very striking beauty, and she has always been considered one of the most stunning and most beautiful girls around the bay. She has traveled extensively, and with her mother spent many months abroad. Miss Hussey is a very intimate friend of Mrs. Eugene Hale Douglas, who married Paymaster Douglas a few seasons ago. Mrs. Douglas was formerly Miss Gertrude Russell. Paymaster and Mrs. Douglas are now at Yerba Buena, where they entertain in a very delightful fashion.

Paymaster Adeo, who is attached to the St. Louis, comes of a very prominent family in Washington, and he has many friends in naval circles on the Coast. The wedding of the young people will take place the latter part of this month.

Other interesting social dates are to be announced next week, making the month of April represent a series of social activities quite unusual in the chronicles of the early spring.

MISS WEIHE DEPARTS.

Miss Roxane Weihe left this morning for Chicago, where she will spend six months pursuing her musical studies under Fanny Bloomfield Zeissler. Many informal farewell parties were given for Miss Weihe and a number of her friends gathered at the train to wish her bon voyage.

MISS WEIHE DEPARTS.

Miss Minnie Bertie Houghton and her brother, Bertie, left for Governor and Mrs. Morgan Bulkeley of Connecticut, arrived from the East in the Bulkeleys' private car on Wednesday and are at the St. Francis. Miss Houghton and Mrs. Bulkeley are daughter of the late General Houghton of Oakland, and sister of Mr. Charles Houghton. Miss Houghton has spent the past two years in the east and is being enthusiastically greeted by her friends. Mrs. Charles Houghton will entertain formally for the visitors at her home on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Sherley Houghton accompanied his aunt's party from the East and is at present in Riverside, where he is being entertained by the family of his fiancee, Miss Jean Adair. Miss Adair has again moved to San Francisco in the meantime, and after his return from a business trip of several weeks, plans for his wedding to Miss Adair will be made.

MISS KESSLER A HOSTESS.

Miss Katherine Kessler, who returned recently from the east, has sent out invitations for the afternoon, April 10, in honor of Miss Vera Wood, who will be married on April 14 to Dr. Carl Strub of San Francisco. Miss Wood is being entertained at a number of informal parties and a large affair of next week will be the card party to be given by Miss Gladys Newell in her home.

MISS KESSLER A HOSTESS.

A very joyful surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Thursday evening, in honor of the birthdays of Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Gladys Newell, who will be married on April 14 to Dr. Carl Strub of San Francisco. Miss Wood is being entertained at a number of informal parties and a large affair of next week will be the card party to be given by Miss Gladys Newell in her home.

The hostesses will be Mrs. William Cavalier, Mrs. Robert Newell, Mrs. Wickham Bates Jr., several courses will be served at the home of each hostess and later the members gather in the Wickham Havens ballroom for a dance. Among other members are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Engs, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilhelm, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gardner and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Williamson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buttress had Miss Lois Crosby and several friends with them, and Mrs. George Dowdy was in Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Moffett's box. Mr. and Mrs. John Doherty shopped up from Redwood for the day and entertained guests in their box, and most of the Burlingame set turned out for the first game in a week.

IN PORTO RICO.

ELECTION IN BERKELEY TODAY

Women's Activity Fea- ture of Municipal Pri- mary Contest

BERKELEY. April 3.—Berkeley is participating today in its annual primary election, when the choice for several offices will be narrowed down from the large number of candidates in the field. Three men are out for mayor, three for auditor, ten for councilmen and four men and two women for school board. A mayor, auditor, two councilmen and two school directors are to be elected.

The polls opened at 8 o'clock this morning, and the early morning voting indicated much interest in the election. In the commuter districts, especially those traversed by the local trains, there was an especially heavy morning poll, though the forenoon vote was very light in the east of Spruce and east of Telegraph avenue sections.

It was expected that a heavy vote would be polled during the afternoon. Berkeley's elections are held on Saturday, in order to permit the attendants at the polls of men and women who cross the bay or go to Oakland for their day's work. This class of voters was expected to cast its vote, most largely this afternoon.

WOMEN HAVE CANDIDATES.

The women of the city were active all day for several of the candidates. Mrs. Carrie Gibbs had behind her a committee of 100 women of the city who were actively at work in her behalf, assisted by a corps of volunteers. Women who desired one of their sex on the school board were also diligent in the campaign of Mrs. Helen Vall Wallace.

From the several campaign headquarters the most optimistic reports far were from the offices of Mayor Charles D. Heywood, one of the candidates. Last-hour reports received during the night and this forenoon indicated that he would receive the largest vote of the three candidates for this office. It was expected that the mayor would come close to securing the majority vote necessary for election in this primary, but this more optimistic forecast was frowned upon by the conservative leaders in the Heywood camp. Who would be Heywood's opponent in the second election, S. C. Irving or J. Stitt Wilson, was not indicated in the reports.

EXCEPT 8000 VOTES.

Forenoon indications were that the total balloting would be somewhere about $600. The early hours brought out at each of the polling places a vote very similar to that at the election on the Exposition bonds recently held. A vote of $600 would be about 1000 higher than in the primary election of two years ago. The additional interest was generally explained by the presence on the ballot of the liquor amendment.

City Clerk Walter J. Seaborn issued a statement this morning, denying charges made during the campaign that the location of the election booth had been manipulated in favor of one of the candidates. Seaborn points out that the number of booths in city and state elections has always borne a ratio of about one to two, and that for this occasion the number has not been reduced. He declares that a careful study was made of each precinct to place the booth where it would have to be passed by the largest number of voters on their way to and from their homes, and that the locations have been modified but very slightly and in very few instances for this election.

EASTER SONG PROGRAM BY ST. MARK'S CHOIR

BERKELEY. April 3.—An Easter program will be given by the Western choir of St. Mark's Church of Berkeley, at the Young Women's Christian Association on the Exposition grounds, Sunday afternoon at five o'clock. Bishop William M. Bell of Los Angeles who is at present in San Francisco to preside at the annual Session of the Protestant Congress, will give a brief address.

The Sunday hour of sacred music on the portion of the Y. W. C. A. building is coming to be recognized as an interesting feature of the religious and social life of the entire community. The choir groups are already invited to sing here during the coming weeks. The choir of St. Paul's Church sings on April 11 and the choir of Plymouth Congregational Church on April 18.

April 3.—Smiles and tears, humor and pathos, without a note of tragedy or striving for drama, were the substance of the entertainment given the members of the Adelphi club and their friends at the union meeting in James Foley, poet and humorist, whose writings are close in merit to those of James Whitcomb Riley. When the poet was asked what he thought of James Foley he said: "I like him."

Oaks Prove Their Class In Terrific Struggle Seals Outslug, but Can't Outgame Christian's Club

I didn't raise my Seal to be a sausage,
I brought him up to terrify the Oaks.
Who dares to put him on the tree lunch counter?
I thought you said them Oaks guys were jokers?
I didn't raise my Seal to be a sausage,
Nor yet to have him lose his little hide;
Give us someone else to play
Or there'll be no game today;
I didn't raise my Seal to be a sausage.

(By "BILLY FITZ")

The sensational new submarine Oakland-9 torpedoed and sank the San Francisco schooner Seal yesterday in a sanguinary conflict, the outcome of which spread terror in the ranks of the enemy, who had been led to expect an easy victory. Commander Harry Wolverton and his crew escaped with their lives and their uniforms, but their reputations fell into the hands of Commander Christian and his submarine heroes. News of the victory was received in Oakland with a wild outburst of joy on the part of the populace who gathered before the war bulletin boards displayed by The Tribune on Eighth street and cheered frantically. Hostilities will be resumed today, and there is general belief that the dread submarine, which is of a modern type and gallantly manned, will kick the bottom out of another San Francisco craft. In this event the war will be three times what Sherman said and will last all summer.

Yesterday's victory of the 1915 Oaks at Recreation Park over the Seals saved the Oaks from history, alone the val of League, the defense of Warsaw, and the attack on the Dardanelles. Nothing like it has been seen in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. For the ninth time they play the Seals, and the Oaks finally won out on sheer bravery and determination. They were outlucked repeatedly, but apparently couldn't be beaten, for they came on in the final inning and won again.

This was the last one that needed to be won, a major fine club off to a good start, and mark our words—the Oaks will just about electrify that old league. They won't beat that pitching staff around the circuit if the boys do what they say right now. It looks like a repetition of 1915.

Funne how apparently insignificant things can win or lose a ball game. The Oaks should never have been forced into that rally in the ninth inning yesterday, had not a pebble in the short field deflected a grounder from Bodie's bat in the sixth and hit the Seals' man over the head with such force that he looked like the famous Mr. Pickwick. In one hand, Rowdy was clutching the ball with a grip like a bucket of glue. Leard was called out and there was no protest. It was really some play.

As another instance of small matters, Johnston singled in the next inning and dashed for second a moment later. He made the bag safely enough, but Corhan made it across before Leard could get it. The third base coach, however, had a great racket, it was no avail.

Mundorf robbed Harry Hellman of a hit in the ninth. The new Oak outfielder had to jump up against the fence to get the drive.

Harry Ables is booked for the mound today for Oakland, while Wolverton will probably use Bugs Reisigl.

After going hitless for two games, Roy Corhan made his first hit of the season.

Spider Baum leads the Coast League batters today. He was up twice yesterday and poled out two singles.

The best Pino Bodie could do was a two-bagger.

Justin Fitzgerald was the slugger of the game, piling out four hits in five times at bat. Two of the hits were doubles.

Joe Tobin has accepted terms with the Victoria club in the Northwestern League. The Oakland boy will leave for the north as soon as his transportation arrives.

Middleton's single chased Jack Ness over with the tying run, anyway, so that the Corhan incident did not matter as much as it might have done.

That was certainly bad in everyone's eye, when the Oaks took the field in the last half of the eighth inning with the score tied at five all. Prough had been hit freely the inning before, at Tyler Christian, and had to be pulled. He was back warming up as usual all through the contest. Pernoll had lasted only four innings, and Spider Baum had been working for the Oaks.

With Schmidt off the way, Baum led off the clean up. Linds and when Fitzgerald bunched one up against the right field fence, Mundorf got excited and whipped the ball a mile in and was chasing it. Here Malarkey tightened and Alcock took out Jones, and Middleton went back to the fence and captured Bodie's bid for a home run.

The damage was apparently done, for the Oaks had got their one run lead, but here's where the Oaks again came back. Elliott shored a grounder at Leard, and Whispering Bill committed his third mazur in the 10th. Christian immediately relieved Elliott, and the paths, and sent Gardner up to swing for Malarkey. If ever a move proved justified, this did, for the Rub just barely cleared against the first pitched ball, and Elliott was having trouble with a short chop drive, found the ball sailing over his head to the club house.

Tyler Christian went around the race track like the Devil himself was after him and Malarkey all into third base before the ball was returned. Naturally pandemonium reigned.

Baum forced Mundorf and Mando both to pop to the infirmary, but Jim Johnstone to the rescue, with a terrific double to center field, driving Gardner in a moment later he moved to third, when Ness singled to right. Lindsay followed with a clout through Leard, but Ness was nailed at third, not before Johnstone had dashed over the counter with a third run.

After that, the only feature was Weilmann's terrific drive to right field in the ninth inning, a shrapnel shot which Mundorf nailed on his tip toes, standing near the fence, an almost impossible catch. Bodie pitched this round and got by unscathed. He may work today.

We don't remember to ever having seen a ball club try harder to win a game than the Oaks did yesterday. It recall one play particularly. Leard was on third and Schmidt on first, two wonderfully fast men, and the double steal was ordered. The play was so logical that everyone was expecting it. Schmidt got the signal and cut loose, for a base while Elliott hurried off of his mask, rushed out and slammed the ball down to Alcock with all his might. The throw was wide and low, but Alcock lung himself out, scooped it up and

23D AVENUE COLONY STRONG FOR ITS STARS

Frankie Edwards' Former District Is Booming Fight Game.

The Twenty-third avenue colony of East Oakland will occupy a great block of seats at the West Oakland club Wednesday night when three of their hopes, Frank Luscher, Willie Byrne and Young Joe Azvedo swap punches.

So far as the enforcement of the anti-fight law, the district around Twenty-third avenue had always responded to the thud of the gloves. Frankie Edwards, a local lightweight, was one of the first to sacrifice to represent the district but as soon as he became successful, the lads around Twenty-third avenue began to develop into fighters themselves.

At the present time, some ten or twelve amateurs are products of Twenty-third avenue, but the cream of all these lads will be seen in action on Wednesday night when Frank Luscher, Lightweight, and with Pete Tavas, the Oakdale cruiser, 125-pounder, tangles with Jack Davis, and when Young Azvedo meets Harry Parker, a San Francisco featherweight.

Luscher is making his record appear to be a local ringer. On his last fight he lost a close four round decision to Pete Tavas. The bout was easily the liveliest and most exciting one in these parts, the contestants swapping punches in the middle of the ring, the clang of the bell at the end of its extreme round.

Luscher has been in hard training for the past two weeks for his go with Tavas and feels sure he can reverse the decision of last month's show, while Tavas is making hard to get into the right shape, also.

The special event will bring together Willie Byrne, the champion 135-pounder of the Bay cities, and Jack Davis, a featherweight, both of whom have lost close four round decision to Pete, a short while back. Byrne is perhaps one of the mildest 135-pounders in these parts and has hung up an enviable record of having won nine of his last ten fights. He is a hard puncher with a stiff upper lip, his most dangerous offering. Willie will not be fighting main events in a short while, then the writer and several others will have a fight when the see one will run a mile.

The bout between Young Azvedo and Harry Parker should be a corker. Parker has practically cleaned up all the amateur fights in the neighborhood, and the contest between the two will still serve also as an intercity attraction.

Azvedo hauls from Twenty-third avenue, and has been winning his mitt in the past with great regularity. Just a short while ago he had a narrow call with the "Fighting Eddie" Murray in his last appearance at West Oakland. Seven other fights will complete the card.

Oaks Triumph in Hard Hitting Game

In a free-hitting and spectacular struggle the Oaks defeated their old rivals the Seals, 3 to 2, smashing three runs over the plate in the ninth inning. Tyres Christian used three pitchers and Wolverine two. Gardner was the hero with a pinch hit in the ninth inning, when sent in as a pinch hitter in the eighth inning. Alcock took three hits and played a great fielding game.
